QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the District of Columbia should impose identical reciprocal discipline after Schneider was disbarred by consent in Maryland.
2. Whether the court should adopt the Board on Professional Responsibility's recommendation of disbarment when no exceptions were filed.

HOLDINGS

1. The District of Columbia Court of Appeals imposed identical reciprocal discipline and disbarred Schneider from the practice of law in the District of Columbia.
2. For purposes of seeking reinstatement, the disbarment runs from the date Schneider files an affidavit complying with D.C. Bar Rule XI, § 14(g).

KEY QUOTATIONS

“Because of the rebuttable presumption favoring identical reciprocal discipline, see In re Goldsborough, 654 A.2d 1285, 1287 (D.C.1995), and the heightened deference this court gives to the Board's recommendation in cases such as this where no exceptions have been filed, see In re Delaney, 697 A.2d 1212, 1214 (D.C.1997), we adopt the Board's recommendation.” (799)

“Accordingly, it is ORDERED that Fritz H. Schneider is hereby disbarred from the practice of law in the District of Columbia.” (799)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Schneider was disbarred by consent in Maryland after admitting violations involving scope of representation, diligence, communication, conflicts of interest, termination of representation, criminal conduct, dishonesty, and conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice. The violations arose from his failure to timely file a client's complaint and his efforts to conceal the neglect by falsely claiming that the matter had settled and paying the client from personal funds.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Maryland Court of Appeals disbarred Fritz H. Schneider by consent after he stipulated to multiple professional-conduct violations. After being notified of the Maryland disbarment, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals suspended Schneider on an interim basis under D.C. Bar Rule XI, § 11(d). The Board on Professional Responsibility recommended reciprocal disbarment, Bar Counsel took no exception, and Schneider filed no exceptions; the court adopted the recommendation.
