

COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FIRST COURT OF APPEALS DISTRICT, HOUSTON, TEXAS

Bobby Joe Jones, Jr. v. State

Jones v. State · No. 01-15-00358-CR · Decided May 26, 2015

SUMMARY

This document is a motion filed by the appellant in a Texas criminal appeal seeking a 30-day extension to file the reporter's record. The motion states that the court reporter needed additional time because of a software change and that the appellant's attorney was engaged in jury trials.

CASE DETAILS

COURT	Court of Appeals for the First Court of Appeals District, Houston, Texas
JURISDICTION	Texas
DECIDED	May 26, 2015
DOCKET	01-15-00358-CR
DISPOSITION	other
PROCEDURAL POSTURE	Appellant moved for a 30-day extension of time to file the reporter's record in a criminal appeal.
PRECEDENTIAL VALUE	Published metadata indicates the matter was published, but the provided document is a per curiam procedural order or accepted motion concerning an extension of time and contains no substantive legal holding.
PARTIES	Bobby Joe Jones, Jr. v. The State of Texas

TOPICS

appellate procedure

criminal procedure

PRACTICE AREAS

appellate procedure

criminal procedure

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the court should grant appellant a 30-day extension of time to file the reporter's record.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The reporter's record in the criminal appeal was due on May 11, 2015. The court reporter advised appellant that an additional 30 days was needed because of a recent software change affecting the equipment used during the trial-court proceeding. Appellant's attorney also stated that counsel had been occupied with back-to-back jury trials, the most recent ending May 22, 2015.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The appeal was taken from the District Court of Hays County, Texas, 22nd Judicial District, in trial court cause number CR-13-0430. The reporter's record was due May 11, 2015. Appellant sought a 30-day extension because the court reporter needed additional time following a software change and because appellant's attorney had been engaged in consecutive jury trials. The document bears an accepted filing stamp from the First Court of Appeals.

DISPOSITION

other