

COURT OF APPEALS, SIXTH APPELLATE DISTRICT OF TEXAS

Kassie Stephenson v. State

Stephenson · No. No. 06-13-00180-CR · Decided June 4, 2014

SUMMARY

The Texas Sixth Court of Appeals modified the trial court's judgment to assess $977.50 in attorney's fees and directed reimbursement or credit for any amount paid above that sum. The judgment was otherwise affirmed, and appellate costs were waived based on the appellant's inability to pay.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the trial court's judgment required modification of the attorney-fee assessment.
2. Whether appellant should be required to pay costs of appeal despite her inability to pay.

HOLDINGS

1. The trial court's judgment was modified to assess $977.50 in attorney's fees, with reimbursement or credit required for any amount appellant had already paid over that sum.
2. Appellant was not required to pay costs of appeal because she adequately demonstrated her inability to pay.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“Therefore, we modify the trial court’s judgment to reflect an assessment of $977.50 for attorney’s fees. We further direct the trial court to ensure that appellant is reimbursed or otherwise credited for any attorney’s fee payment already made over and above $977.50. As modified, the judgment of the trial court is affirmed.”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The trial court's judgment included an assessment of attorney's fees. On appeal, the court determined that the judgment contained partial error concerning the amount of attorney's fees and recognized appellant's inability to pay appellate costs.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The case was appealed from the 124th District Court of Gregg County, Texas. The appellate court found partial error in the trial court's judgment, modified the attorney-fee assessment, affirmed the judgment as modified, and waived appellate costs based on appellant's inability to pay.

DISPOSITION

affirmed

REMAND INSTRUCTIONS

The trial court must ensure that appellant is reimbursed or otherwise credited for any attorney-fee payment already made over $977.50.
