QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether Woodland was entitled to an award of $9,987.69 in attorney's fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act.
2. Whether an EAJA fee award should be paid directly to Woodland's counsel under her assignment, subject to offset for any qualifying federal debt.

HOLDINGS

1. Woodland was entitled to $9,987.69 in attorney's fees under the EAJA because she was the prevailing party, the Commissioner's position was not substantially justified, and the unopposed fee request was reasonable.
2. The EAJA award may be offset to satisfy Woodland's pre-existing debt to the United States; if she has no qualifying federal debt, the United States will accept her assignment of the EAJA fees and pay them directly to counsel.

KEY QUOTATIONS

"A court should grant a Social Security claimant's request for attorney's fees when it is unopposed."

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Woodland obtained a sentence-four remand of the Commissioner's final Social Security decision for further administrative proceedings. Judgment was entered in her favor. She assigned her rights to EAJA fees to her attorney and requested $9,987.69 in fees; the Commissioner did not oppose the request.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 13, 2025, the court remanded the Commissioner's final decision for further administrative proceedings under sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g), and the Clerk entered judgment for Woodland. Woodland then moved for $9,987.69 in EAJA attorney's fees. The Commissioner did not oppose the motion or contest Woodland's prevailing-party status, the lack of substantial justification, or the reasonableness of the requested amount.
