Morneau · No. 3:22-cv-01861-AHG · Decided October 24, 2025

SUMMARY

The United States District Court for the Southern District of California denied absent class members' counsel's motion for attorney fees and reimbursement of expenses. The court held that counsel had not shown that their work in a related action meaningfully benefited the class or contributed to the settlement fund. The order addresses fee awards to non-lead counsel in class actions under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(h).

INSURANCE COMPANY,

20 Defendants. 21

Before the Court is Counsel for Absent Class Members Janice Schmidt and 22 Judy Vann-Eubanks's ("Schmidt Counsel") Motion for Attorney Fees and Reimbursement 23 of Expenses. ECF No. 76.1 The dispute that is being resolved through the class settlement 24 in this case was, in one form or another, the subject of three separate actions. Defendants 25 here opted to negotiate a resolution with counsel for the plaintiffs in two of those actions 26 27 28 1 Schmidt Counsel confirmed at the final approval hearing on October 24, 2025, that their 1 (which were effectively combined here through the filing of a First Amended Complaint), 2 but not the third action. Schmidt Counsel brought and litigated that third action. Schmidt 3 Counsel now ask the Court to order that a portion of the attorney fees awarded in the 4 settlement of this action be paid directly to them rather than Class Counsel. For the reasons 5 set forth below, the Court DENIES the motion.

6 I. BACKGROUND

7 On April 13, 2020, Beverly Allen filed a putative class action in the Eastern District 8 of California against Protective Life Insurance Company and Empire General Life 9 Insurance Company, seeking to represent a class of living insureds and beneficiaries of 10 lapsed life insurance policies. Allen v. Protective Life Insurance Co., et al., No. 1:20-cv- 11 530-JLT-CDB (E.D. Cal.), ECF No. 1 (the "Allen action"). On June 20, 2023, Ms. Allen 12 filed a motion for class certification. Allen, ECF No. 92. Although that motion was fully 13 briefed, the court did not resolve it. Instead, the Allen action has been stayed since 14 December 2023. Allen, ECF No. 110.

15 On December 17, 2021, approximately 20 months after the Allen action as filed, 16 Janice Schmidt filed a putative class action in the Eastern District of California against 17 Standard Life Insurance Company and Protective Life Insurance Company, seeking to 18 represent a class of beneficiaries of lapsed life insurance policies. Schmidt v. Standard 19 Insurance Company, et al., No. 1:21-cv-1784-JLT-CDB (E.D. Cal.), ECF No. 1 (the 20 "Schmidt action"). On September 28, 2022, Ms. Schmidt filed an amended complaint, 21 adding 22 Judy Vann-Eubanks as a putative class representative. Schmidt, ECF Nos. 39, 40. 22 Schmidt Counsel filed a notice of related case in the Allen action on July 7, 2023. Allen, 23 ECF No. 94. The plaintiff moved for class certification of the Schmidt action on 24 25 26 2 The Court notes that Ms. Schmidt was not retained as a class representative. See Schmidt, 27 ECF No. 63-1 at 8 n.1 (motion for class certification, explaining that "Plaintiff does not seek the appointment of plaintiff Janice Schmidt as a class representative or to certify a 28 class against Standard Life Insurance Company. Ms. Schmidt's claims against Standard

1 August 14, 2023. Schmidt, ECF No. 63. Although the certification motion has been fully 2 briefed, there has been no order on the motion. Schmidt, ECF No. 63. The Schmidt action 3 has also been stayed since December 2023. Schmidt, ECF No. 92 4 The instant action was filed in San Francisco Superior Court on July 5, 2022, by 5 Plaintiffs Cristin Morneau and Kelly Strange against Protective Life Insurance Company, 6 as beneficiaries of a lapsed life insurance policy. ECF No. 1 at 12–65. It was removed and 7 subsequently transferred to the Southern District of California on November 28, 2022. ECF

8 Nos. 14, 15.

9 Defendants engaged in formal settlement discussions with counsel in the Allen 10 action and the instant action using two different mediators. Schmidt Counsel did not 11 participate in either mediation. The first mediation was on July 24, 2023, before the 12 Honorable Herbert B. Hoffman. ECF No. 70-3 at 5. The second mediation was on

13 September 11, 2024, with Hunter Hughes. ECF No. 70-3 at 6. Weeks later, the parties

14 accepted the mediator’s proposal and settled the Allen action and the instant action on a 15 class-wide basis. Id. On November 26, 2024, the operative amended complaint was filed 16 in the instant matter to effectively merge the Allen action into the instant action and add 17 Keir Milan as a class representative. ECF No. 64. This Court granted preliminary approval 18 of the settlement on April 22, 2025. ECF No. 73. 19 On August 11, 2025, Schmidt Counsel filed this motion for attorney fees and 20 reimbursement of expenses in the instant action. ECF No. 76. Counsel for Plaintiffs 21 Keir Milan, Cristin Morneau, and Kelly Strange (“Class Counsel”) oppose Schmidt 22 Counsel’s request. ECF No. 79. The Court held a hearing on the matter on 23 October 24, 2025, and heard oral argument from all sides. ECF No. 84.

24 II. LEGAL STANDARD

25 Rule 23 permits awards of “reasonable attorney[] fees and nontaxable costs that are 26 authorized by law or by the parties’ agreement.” FED. R. CIV. P. 23(h). “In some situations, 27 there may be a basis for making an award to other counsel whose work produced a 28 beneficial result for the class, such as attorneys who acted for the class before certification 1 but were not appointed class counsel, or attorneys who represented objectors to a proposed 2 settlement under Rule 23(e) or to the fee motion of class counsel. Other situations in which 3 fee awards are authorized by law or by agreement of the parties may exist.” FED. R. CIV. 4 P. 23, Advisory Committee Notes on 2003 Amendments to paragraph (h). 5 “It is well established that an award of attorney[] fees from a common fund depends 6 on whether the attorneys’ specific services benefited the fund—whether they tended to 7 create, increase, protect or preserve the fund.” Class Plaintiffs v. Jaffe & Schlesinger, P.A., 8 19 F.3d 1306, 1308 (9th Cir. 1994) (internal quotations omitted). “The attorney requesting 9 an award of fees has the burden of establishing an entitlement to such.” In re Kia Hyundai 10 Vehicle Theft Litig., No. 8:22-ml-03052-JVS-KES, 2024 WL 4602700, at *2 (C.D. Cal.

11 Oct. 9, 2024); accord In re Cendant Corp. Sec. Litig., 404 F.3d 173, 197 (3rd Cir. 2005)

12 (“The mere fact that a non-designated counsel worked diligently and competently with the 13 goal of benefiting the class is not sufficient to merit compensation”). The Ninth Circuit has 14 held that the “central issue” when determining an award of attorney fees to non-lead 15 counsel is “whether [counsel’s] efforts meaningfully benefited the class.” Hill v. 16 Volkswagen Grp. of Am.,

Inc. (In re Volkswagen “Clean Diesel” Mktg., Sales Practices, 17 & Prod. Liab. Litig.), 914 F.3d 623, 642 (9th Cir. 2018). For example, prior to appointment 18 as lead counsel, counsel “may conduct significant factual investigations, perform legal 19 research on novel or innovative theories, and make strategic legal decisions affecting the 20 content of the complaints and the ultimate course of the litigation. [] In such instances, 21 when a substantial benefit has been conferred on the class, non-lead counsel are entitled to 22 reasonable compensation.” Victor v. Argent Classic Convertible Arbitrage Fund L.P., 623 23 F.3d 82, 87 (2d Cir. 2010).

24 III. DISCUSSION

25 Schmidt Counsel argue that they meaningfully benefitted the class. ECF No. 80 at 2. 26 Schmidt Counsel highlight that they: (1) had an efficient strategy against Defendants due 27 to past experience as class counsel in Bentley v. United of Omaha Life Insurance Co., No. 28 15-cv-7870-DMG-AJWx, 2018 WL 3357458 (C.D. Cal. May 1, 2018); (2) engaged in 1 significant factual investigation and discovery, and completed class certification briefing; 2 (3) formulated the theory that formed the framework of the instant settlement—i.e., two 3 separate classes, an injunctive relief class and a damages class; and (4) filed a more viable 4 class action complaint. The Court will address each in turn. 5 A. Past Experience in Bentley 6 Schmidt Counsel argue that their experience as class counsel in Bentley, the first case 7 involving the Statutes at issue here to be certified pursuant to Rule 23(b)(3), meaningfully 8 benefited the class here. ECF No. 76 at 7, 11–12. Schmidt Counsel contend that “Bentley 9 formed the blueprint for Schmidt Counsel’s efficient strategy against Protective Life.” Id. 10 at 7. However, though Schmidt Counsel link their experience in Bentley to their strategy in 11 Schmidt, they do not make a connection to benefiting the class in the instant matter, nor 12 explain how they “laid the foundation” for the settlement here, beyond labeling a heading 13 as such. Id. at 11. At most, Schmidt Counsel explain how their “reputation, experience, and 14 skill” in this area of litigation “added substantial pressure on Protective Life to resolve 15 these cases.” Id. at 12. 16 The Court agrees with Class Counsel’s assessment that experience in “a prior case, 17 on behalf of a different class, with different defendants and contracts, under a different 18 legal landscape,³” does not support an award of attorney fees in the instant case, without a 19 specific link to how this experience meaningfully benefitted the class here. ECF No. 79 at 20 20–21. Schmidt Counsel’s reference to the undersigned’s citation to Bentley in its order 21 granting preliminary approval is not enough. In their reply, Schmidt Counsel clarify that 22 they do not seek a “perpetual royalty” for their work in Bentley, but they still fail to connect 23 their work in Bentley to the instant matter. ECF No. 80 at 11. The Court is not persuaded 24 that Schmidt Counsel meaningfully benefitted the class in this case by using their 25 experience in Bentley. See In re Wells Fargo & Co. Shareholder Derivative Litig., 445 F. 26 27 3 Bentley was decided in 2018, before the Ninth Circuit had addressed causation in Small 28 v. Allianz Life Ins. Co. of N. Am., 122 F.4th 1182 (9th Cir. 2024) and Moriarty v. Am. Gen.

1 Supp. 3d 508, 533 (N.D. Cal. 2020) (denying attorney fee request, explaining that “[m]uch

2 of the objection and request for fees is based on work Himmelstein says he performed in 3 an earlier, unrelated case ... neither she nor her lawyers identify any legal work they did 4 for the class's benefit. Instead, they state that Lebendig had factual information that could 5 have 'short-circuited' the discovery process. That assertion is speculative, and in any event 6 does not change the fact that Himmelstein did not perform any services that benefitted the 7 class. 8 B. Significant Factual Investigation and Briefing 9 Schmidt Counsel also argue that they meaningfully benefitted the class because they 10 "spent 2090.6 hours propounding and responding to written discovery, taking and 11 defending depositions, engaging an expert and fully briefing class certification." ECF No. 12 76 at 12–13. Schmidt Counsel explain that they retained a Certified Public Accountant and 13 insurance industry expert, Kent E. Barrett, to opine on class-wide damage calculations. 14 ECF No. 76-1 at 7; ECF No. 80 at 6. Schmidt Counsel point out that their class certification 15 motion included an expert report, "significantly strengthen[ing] the Schmidt plaintiffs' 16 class certification arguments," while the class certification motion in the Allen action did 17 not. ECF No. 80 at 6. Thus, Schmidt Counsel argue that, due to their strengthened class 18 certification briefing, they conveyed a meaningful benefit to the class in this matter. Id. 19 Schmidt Counsel also contend that they engaged in a significant factual investigation 20 "to challenge Protective's argument that it was too burdensome and too time consuming to 21 review the individual files to determine who was an eligible class member." Id. at 7. For 22 example, Schmidt Counsel reviewed thousands of pages of discovery and obtained a 23 representative sample of 100 life insurance policy files. Id. This work "proved that a file- 24 by-file review was doable and did not pose an obstacle to class certification." Id. Schmidt 25 Counsel allege that Class Counsel did not seek or obtain this discovery, and therefore had 26 "developed no evidence to overcome this potentially dispositive argument." Id. However, 27 Schmidt Counsel again fail to connect their work in Schmidt to the instant matter, and how 28 their work meaningfully benefitted the class here. Schmidt Counsel note that Defendants' 1 "lawyers no doubt recognized the unique risk Schmidt posed to Protective's goal of global 2 peace." Id. However, this assertion is too tenuous and speculative to persuade the Court 3 that Schmidt Counsel conveyed a meaningful benefit to the class. See Arkin v. Pressman, 4 Inc., 38 F.4th 1001, 1009 (11th Cir. 2022) ("In some circumstances, identifying class 5 members entitled to recovery may well provide a substantial benefit to the class and 6 improve the common fund by ensuring that more class members ultimately recover. The 7 problem here, though, is that Wanca's work in identifying the 1,633 claimants did not 8 provide the class with an independent benefit. ... Wanca is not entitled to attorneys' fees 9 for performing work that Bock could easily have duplicated and did not only for the 10 convenience of the class members."). 11 Additionally, Class Counsel cast doubt on the significance of the discovery 12 completed by Schmidt Counsel, contending much of the work was duplicative and could 13 have been avoided had Schmidt Counsel sought to coordinate the cases. ECF No. 79 at 16. 14 For example, Schmidt Counsel obtained a spreadsheet from Defendant in discovery that 15 compiled class member policy information by policy number, policy issue date, face value, 16 among other data points; however, Class Counsel “had already requested, were forced to 17 compel, and received that data back in 2022.” Id. at 15. Schmidt Counsel also deposed 18 Defendant’s Rule 30(b)(6) witnesses, Mike Rebholz and Scott Creutzmann, on 19 June 20, 2023; however, Class Counsel had deposed them in August of 2022. Id. Further, 20 there is no information before the Court that novel data or testimony gathered by Schmidt 21 Counsel were ever shared with Class Counsel. See In re Kia, 2024 WL 4602700, at *4 22 (denying attorney fees when counsel had “neither claimed nor provided evidence to show 23 that he shared any of his work product with Class counsel, such that this work may actually 24 have been the ‘lifeblood’ or meaningfully contributed to the development of the common 25 fund”). Though Schmidt Counsel reference their “enhanced discovery efforts[,]” the Court 26 is not persuaded that such work provided a meaningful benefit to the class in this case. 27 // 28 // 1 C. Formulated the Theory that Formed the Framework of the 2 Settlement 3 Schmidt Counsel argue that they formulated the framework of the instant settlement.4 4 They reference emails and phone conversations with Class Counsel from 2023 regarding 5 proposals to coordinate the Allen action and the Schmidt action, where Schmidt Counsel 6 proposed certifying two distinct classes: a beneficiary class in Schmidt and a reinstatement 7 class in Allen, with Class Counsel handling settlement discussions regarding the 8 reinstatement class and Schmidt Counsel handling settlement discussions regarding the 9 beneficiary class. ECF No. 80-2 at 4, 6; ECF No. 80 at 3. Schmidt Counsel contend that the 10 current settlement, which defines two separate classes represented by two plaintiffs— 11 Keir Milan who is a living insured and Cristin Morneau who is a beneficiary of a deceased 12 policyholder—is the exact same theory that Schmidt Counsel proposed to Class Counsel. 13 ECF No. 80 at 4. Thus, having “originat[ed] the class theory upon which the Settlement is 14 built[,]” Schmidt Counsel argue they have provided a meaningful benefit to the class. 15 Having considered the arguments made by each side during the hearing, the Court 16 is not persuaded that Schmidt Counsel’s proposal of a coordination effort formed the 17 framework for the settlement here. The Court notes that the Allen action sought relief for 18 owners and beneficiaries of life insurance policies that had lapsed, and the Morneau action 19 sought relief for two beneficiaries of a lapsed policy. ECF No. 1 at 12–65; see Allen, ECF 20 No. 92-1 at 9 (motion to for class certification, seeking to certify a class of “[a]ll vested 21 owners and beneficiaries of life insurance policies issued or delivered by Defendant in 22 California, and which, after January 1, 2013, were lapsed or terminated for nonpayment of 23 premium...”). As such, it would make sense that Class Counsel would seek a two-pronged 24 settlement, injunctive relief for the current owners of lapsed policies, the living insured, 25 26 27 4 In their motion for final approval, Class Counsel states that “Schmidt’s counsel did not formulate the class theory that shapes the framework of the proposed Settlement.” ECF 28 No. 83-1 at 18. 1 and damages for the beneficiaries of lapsed policies, just as they had pled in the Allen 2 action. Thus, even if Schmidt Counsel proposed the concept,5 the Court is not persuaded 3 that this provided a meaningful benefit to the class. See In re Kia, 2024 WL 4602700, at 4 *1–*2 (denying attorney fees when the requesting counsel was first to file and class counsel 5 had verbatim copied from his complaint). 6 D. Filed a More Viable Class Action Complaint 7 In their Reply, Schmidt Counsel also argue that they meaningfully benefited the class 8 because they presented the only viable class case. ECF No. 80 at 5. Schmidt Counsel argue 9 that the Allen action was a weaker case than the Schmidt action, because Ms. Allen was 10 seeking to represent a class of beneficiaries and living insureds, when she was only a 11 member of the former group. ECF No. 80 at 5; see Small v. Allianz Life Ins. Co. of N. Am., 12 122 F.4th 1182, 1202 (9th Cir. 2024) (“a representative of only one Subclass[,] []whether 13 Living Insured or Beneficiary[,] cannot adequately represent the Subclass to which they do 14 not belong”). Schmidt Counsel do not address whether Class Counsel would have been 15 permitted to amend their complaint to include another class representative that could 16 represent the living insureds. Schmidt Counsel, however, concede that they amended their 17 own complaint to replace the original class representative in Schmidt with 18 Ms. Vann-Eubanks. ECF No. 76 at 8; see Schmidt, ECF No. 63-1 at 8 n.1 (motion for class 19 certification, explaining that “Plaintiff does not seek the appointment of plaintiff 20 Janice Schmidt as a class representative Ms. Schmidt’s claims against Standard Life 21 Insurance Company continue on an individual basis”). 22 23 5 The Court also notes that the emails provided seem to reflect a proposal of coordinating 24 the two cases—i.e., the Allen action would be led by Class Counsel as a reinstatement class 25 case and the Schmidt action would be led by Schmidt Counsel as a beneficiary class case, and each counsel would have their own distinct settlement discussions—as opposed to a 26 proposal of a way forward with settlement. ECF No. 80-2 at 6 (proposing that counsel 27 “request the Judge to appoint the Sperling Group as lead counsel for the beneficiary class and your group as lead counsel for the reinstatement class. ... Sperling Group would handle 28 any settlement discussions for the beneficiary class and you would handle any discussions 1 Schmidt Counsel’s other arguments regarding the suitability of Ms. Allen are 2 likewise unpersuasive. Though Schmidt Counsel highlight potential risks with Ms. Allen 3 as a class representative,6 Class Counsel likewise highlighted risks with Ms. Vann-Eubanks 4 as a class representative.7 The Court need not address which class representative was more 5 suitable, since any class representative will undoubtedly be challenged by the opposing 6 party during the class certification briefing stage. Further, Schmidt Counsel do not connect 7 why having a superior case has benefited the class here. 8 As discussed above, the Court is not persuaded that Schmidt Counsel provided a 9 meaningful benefit to this class.

10 IV. CONCLUSION

11 The Court is “sympathetic to [Schmidt Counsel], and ha[s] no doubt that [they] 12 dutifully and conscientiously represented their clients. This is not necessarily a case where 13 latecomers attempt to divide spoils that they did not procure. But [Schmidt Counsel’s] 14 efforts do not entitle them to compensation [] when the record indicates that they did 15 not perform work that benefited the class[.]” In re Volkswagen, 914 F.3d at 623. Here, 16 Schmidt Counsel did not meet their burden to show that they meaningfully benefited the 17 class. See, e.g., Sobel v. Hertz Corp., 53 F. Supp. 3d 1319, 1333 (D. Nev. 2014) (awarding 18 attorney fees for meaningfully benefitting the class when the court cited counsel’s 19 objection as a reason for rejecting the settlement, causing the settlement to be renegotiated 20 for an increase of $42 million to the common fund). 21 / / 22 / / 23 24 25 6 Schmidt Counsel allege that Ms. Allen had not listed the lapsed policy in bankruptcy. 26 ECF No. 80 at 5. 27 7 Class Counsel allege that Ms. Vann-Eubanks is not a member of the class because she was a contingent beneficiary, and the primary beneficiary was still alive at the time of the 28 insured’s death. ECF No. 79 at 11. 1 For the reasons set forth above, the Court DENIES Schmidt Counsel’s Motion for 2 || Attorney Fees and Reimbursement of Expenses.
