PRACTICE AREAS

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the court should grant a prisoner's motion to proceed in forma pauperis when the motion lacks the certified six-month trust-account statement required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(2).
2. Whether the action should be dismissed without prejudice when the plaintiff neither pays the filing fee nor submits a complete IFP application.

HOLDINGS

1. A prisoner seeking to proceed in forma pauperis must submit the required financial information, including a certified trust-account statement for the six-month period preceding the filing of the complaint; because Plaintiff did not submit that statement, the court denied the IFP motion.
2. When a prisoner's IFP application is denied, the action may not proceed unless the required filing fees are paid; because Plaintiff neither paid the fees nor submitted a complete IFP application, the action was dismissed without prejudice.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“where [an] IFP application is denied altogether, Plaintiff’s case [cannot] proceed unless and until the fee[s] [a]re paid.” (at 1)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Jose Arteaga, a prisoner, filed a civil-rights complaint under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 against M. Palmer and R. Buckel. Instead of paying the civil filing and administrative fees, he filed a motion to proceed in forma pauperis. The motion did not include a certified copy of his prison trust-account statement for the six-month period preceding the filing of the complaint.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed a civil-rights complaint and an IFP motion in lieu of paying the filing fee. The court found the IFP motion incomplete because it lacked a certified trust-account statement for the six-month period preceding the complaint. The court denied IFP, dismissed the action without prejudice, and allowed 45 days to reopen by paying the full $405 fee or submitting a properly supported renewed IFP motion.

DISPOSITION

dismissed
