QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the Court should approve the parties' negotiated disciplinary sanction under SCR 3.480(2).
2. Whether a three-year suspension, retroactive to Gubin's automatic temporary suspension and subject to conditions tied to diversion supervision, substance-abuse monitoring, and sobriety, was an adequate sanction for his admitted professional misconduct.

HOLDINGS

1. Under SCR 3.480(2), the Court may exercise its discretion to approve a negotiated disciplinary sanction when the attorney and Bar Counsel agree on the facts, rules violated, and appropriate sanction.
2. Gubin was found guilty of violating SCR 3.130-8.4(b) by committing a criminal act that reflected adversely on his honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as a lawyer.
3. A three-year suspension, retroactive to March 30, 2016, with conditions requiring completion of the suspension or diversion supervision, KYLAP monitoring, and abstinence from illegal drugs and alcohol, was an adequate and appropriate sanction.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“[t]he Court may consider negotiated sanctions of disciplinary investigations complaints or charges if the parties agree.”

“The sanction, a three-year suspension with conditions, is appropriate given the circumstances”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Gubin, admitted to practice law in Kentucky in 2013, pleaded guilty to felony first-degree possession of a controlled substance after being arrested on several drug-related and related charges. He was automatically temporarily suspended and later admitted to three years of supervised pretrial diversion, during which he could not practice law. Gubin admitted that his conduct violated SCR 3.130-8.4(b), and he had no prior disciplinary history.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Gubin pleaded guilty to felony first-degree possession of a controlled substance and was automatically temporarily suspended from practicing law. The Inquiry Commission charged him with violating SCR 3.130-8.4(b), and Gubin admitted the violation. He and the Office of Bar Counsel agreed to a three-year suspension with conditions and jointly sought approval from the Supreme Court of Kentucky, which granted the motion.
