QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the district court could dismiss the action sua sponte and without prejudice for failure to prosecute and failure to comply with court orders.

HOLDINGS

1. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(b) authorizes dismissal of a complaint for failure to prosecute or failure to comply with a court order or the federal rules, and the court may exercise its inherent power to make that dismissal sua sponte.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“[D]ismissal upon disregard of an order, especially where the litigant has been forewarned, generally is not an abuse of discretion.”

“[E]ven a non-lawyer should realize the peril to [his] case, when [he] . . . ignores numerous notices and fails to comply with court orders.”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

After filing his complaint, Thomas H. Byrd did not take any further action despite several court orders requiring payment of the partial filing fee. He failed to comply with those orders and did not advise the court that he had changed addresses and no longer appeared to be housed at the Mobile County Metro Jail. The court had previously issued orders and notices concerning his obligations.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed the action on July 28, 2025. The court issued orders requiring him to pay the partial filing fee, but he took no further action, failed to comply with the orders, and failed to notify the court of his change of address. The magistrate judge recommended dismissal without prejudice, and the district court adopted the recommendation and dismissed the action.

DISPOSITION

dismissed
