QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the defendants established prima facie entitlement to summary judgment by showing that the plaintiff did not sustain a serious injury under Insurance Law § 5102(d).
2. Whether the plaintiff raised a triable issue of fact concerning serious injury under the significant limitation of use and permanent consequential limitation of use categories.
3. Whether the plaintiff adequately explained the lengthy gap in his medical treatment.

HOLDINGS

1. Although the defendants met their prima facie burden, the plaintiff raised a triable issue of fact through his treating physician's affirmation concerning whether he sustained serious cervical and lumbar injuries under the significant limitation of use and permanent consequential limitation of use categories of Insurance Law § 5102(d).
2. The plaintiff adequately explained the lengthy gap in his treatment through Dr. Levin's affirmation, so the treatment gap did not warrant summary judgment for the defendants.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The plaintiff claimed cervical and lumbar spinal injuries arising from the subject accident. The defendants submitted proof that he did not sustain a serious injury within the meaning of Insurance Law § 5102(d), satisfying their prima facie burden. The plaintiff opposed the motion with an affirmation from treating physician Dr. Nathan Levin, who relied on contemporaneous and recent examinations and MRI reports showing a cervical disc bulge and lumbar disc herniations, and opined that the injuries and range-of-motion limitations were permanent and accident-related. Dr. Levin also explained the lengthy gap in the plaintiff's treatment.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Supreme Court, Queens County, granted the defendants' motion for summary judgment and dismissed the complaint. The Appellate Division reversed the order and denied the motion.
