

APPELLATE DIVISION OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, THIRD DEPARTMENT

Matter of Abigail X.

2026 NY Slip Op 01104 · No. CV-25-0089 · Decided February 26, 2026

SUMMARY

The Appellate Division, Third Department, held that a transgender petitioner was entitled to have the records of a name-change proceeding sealed under Civil Rights Law § 64-a. The court concluded that sealing depends on the potential harm from public access and that generalized public-interest concerns do not justify denying the request. The order was modified to grant the sealing application.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether Supreme Court abused its discretion by denying a transgender petitioner's request to seal the records of a Civil Rights Law article 6 name-change proceeding based on generalized or theoretical public-interest concerns.
2. Whether the petitioner's showing that public access could expose his transgender status and subject him to increased risk of harm required sealing under Civil Rights Law § 64-a.

HOLDINGS

1. A court may not deny a Civil Rights Law § 64-a sealing request based on real or theoretical public-interest concerns unrelated to the potential harm to the applicant arising from public access to the name-change proceeding's records.
2. A transgender petitioner who shows that public access to name-change records would expose his transgender status and increase his risk of hate crimes, harassment, or discrimination is entitled to have the records sealed under Civil Rights Law § 64-a.

KEY QUOTATIONS

*“whether to grant or deny a sealing request under Civil Rights Law § 64-a depends solely upon the potential for harm to the applicant arising from public access to a court record of the applicant's name change proceeding” (at 1)

*“To decline to seal the record despite the applicant's showing of jeopardy is to place the applicant at risk of the very harms the statute is meant to guard against” (at 1)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Petitioner is transgender and sought to change his name to one reflecting his male gender identity and the name he uses in his personal and professional life. He stated that public access to the proceeding's records would expose his transgender status and increase his risk of hate crimes, harassment, and other discrimination. Supreme Court denied sealing based on a list of asserted public-interest concerns, including possible effects on creditors, property records, proceedings, background investigations, and future genealogical research.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner commenced a proceeding to change his name and seal the proceeding's court records. Supreme Court granted the name-change request but denied sealing, concluding that asserted public-interest concerns outweighed petitioner's safety concerns. Petitioner appealed, and the Appellate Division modified the order by reversing the denial of sealing and granting the application.

DISPOSITION

reversed_and_remanded

REMAND INSTRUCTIONS

The order was modified by reversing the portion denying petitioner's request to seal the court records and granting the sealing application; the order was otherwise affirmed. No costs were awarded.
