QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the appellant established that he was denied the effective assistance of appellate counsel so as to warrant coram nobis relief from the Appellate Division's prior decision.

HOLDINGS

1. The application for a writ of error coram nobis was denied because the appellant failed to establish that he was denied the effective assistance of appellate counsel.

KEY QUOTATIONS

*“The appellant has failed to establish that he was denied the effective assistance of appellate counsel” (1)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The opinion concerns Gregory Zalevsky's criminal judgment rendered by the Supreme Court, Kings County, on June 18, 2007. After the Appellate Division decided his appeal in 2011, Zalevsky sought a writ of error coram nobis, claiming that his appellate counsel had been constitutionally ineffective. The Appellate Division concluded that he failed to establish ineffective assistance of appellate counsel.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The application concerned an appeal from a judgment of the Supreme Court, Kings County, rendered June 18, 2007, under Indictment No. 4320/04. The Appellate Division had previously decided the appeal on March 22, 2011, reported at 82 AD3d 1136. The court denied the present coram nobis application.
