

SUPREME COURT OF NEVADA

Jones v. Eighth Jud. Dist. Ct.

2014 NV 53 (2014) · No. 63303 · Decided July 3, 2014

SUMMARY

The Supreme Court of Nevada considered Darryl L. Jones's proper-person petition for writs of mandamus and prohibition concerning a pre-filing injunction imposed by the district court. The court granted the petition and issued a writ of mandamus.

CASE DETAILS

|                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| COURT                 | Supreme Court of Nevada                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| WRITING FOR THE COURT | Justice Douglas; Justice Hardesty; Justice Cherry                                                                                                                                                                     |
| JURISDICTION          | Nevada                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| DECIDED               | July 3, 2014                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| DOCKET                | 63303                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| DISPOSITION           | writ_granted                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| PROCEDURAL POSTURE    | Original criminal proceeding in which Darryl L. Jones, appearing in proper person, petitioned for a writ of mandamus or prohibition challenging a prefiling injunction imposed by the Eighth Judicial District Court. |
| PRECEDENTIAL VALUE    | Published                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| PARTIES               | Darryl L. Jones v. The State of Nevada, Douglas Smith, The Eighth Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Clark                                                                      |

TOPICS

criminal procedure appellate procedure writ of certiorari

PRACTICE AREAS

criminal procedure appellate procedure extraordinary writs

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the Nevada Supreme Court should grant Jones's petition for a writ of mandamus or prohibition concerning the prefiling injunction imposed by the Eighth Judicial District Court.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The Eighth Judicial District Court imposed a prefiling injunction against Darryl L. Jones. Jones challenged that injunction by petitioning the Nevada Supreme Court for extraordinary relief. The Supreme Court granted the petition and issued a writ of mandamus, but the supplied docket text does not include the court's factual findings or legal analysis.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Jones filed a proper-person petition for a writ of mandamus or prohibition in the Nevada Supreme Court on June 3, 2013. The Supreme Court ordered the State to answer and to provide the district court order imposing the prefiling injunction, related hearing transcripts, and other pertinent documents. After the State answered and Jones filed a reply, the Supreme Court granted the petition and issued a writ of mandamus on July 3, 2014.

DISPOSITION

writ_granted