QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the appeal should be dismissed for want of prosecution because the appellant failed to timely file an appellate brief.

HOLDINGS

1. An appellate court may dismiss an appeal for want of prosecution when the appellant fails to timely file the required brief and does not obtain an extension.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“Accordingly, we dismiss the appeal for want of prosecution.”

“We dismiss all pending motions as moot.”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The appeal arose from a final judgment signed by the trial court on September 9, 2019. The appellant's brief was due October 31, 2019, but he did not timely file a brief or request an extension; a subsequent notice warning of possible dismissal was returned undeliverable.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, signed a final judgment on September 9, 2019. After the appellant failed to file his brief by the October 31, 2019 deadline, the court of appeals issued a ten-day notice warning that the appeal could be dismissed; the notice was returned undeliverable, and the appellant neither filed a brief nor requested an extension.
