QUESTIONS PRESENTED

- Whether the case should proceed after Plaintiff paid the required filing costs.
- Whether the United States Marshals Service was required to serve Defendant when Plaintiff was not proceeding in forma pauperis.

3. What responsibility and deadline applied to Plaintiff for serving Defendant or obtaining a waiver of service.

HOLDINGS

1. Because Plaintiff paid the filing costs required by the court, the case shall proceed and the Clerk shall file the complaint separately on the docket.
2. The court was not required to order the United States Marshals Service to serve Defendant because Plaintiff was not proceeding in forma pauperis; Plaintiff was responsible for accomplishing service or obtaining a waiver.
3. Plaintiff was required to serve Defendant or obtain a waiver within the 90-day period imposed by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(m), which the court expected to expire on or before February 19, 2026.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“The Court is not required to order the United States Marshals Service to serve the defendant[] in this action because plaintiff is not proceeding in forma pauperis.”

“If a defendant is not served within 90 days after the complaint is filed, the court--on motion or on its own after notice to the plaintiff--must dismiss the action without prejudice against that defendant or order that service be made within a specified time.”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Monica Betts paid the filing costs required by the court to proceed with her action against Copeland, formerly Emerson. The Clerk had issued a summons, and Plaintiff had submitted a United States Marshals Service form, apparently anticipating that a marshal would serve Defendant. Because Plaintiff was not proceeding in forma pauperis, the court placed responsibility for service or obtaining a waiver on Plaintiff.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff initiated the federal civil action and was ordered to pay filing costs. After she paid those costs, the court determined that the case could proceed, directed separate filing of the complaint, and addressed the next procedural step of service of process.
