QUESTIONS PRESENTED

- Whether the appellant's motion for voluntary dismissal of the appeal should be granted.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The docket text does not provide substantive facts underlying the family-law dispute. The appeal proceeded through settlement-program procedures before the appellant sought voluntary dismissal.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Alfred R. Warner, III appealed from proceedings in Clark County's Eighth Judicial District Court, case D598602. After the appeal was assigned to the settlement program and the parties failed to settle, Warner moved for voluntary dismissal. The Supreme Court of Nevada granted the motion and closed the appeal without issuing a remittitur.

DISPOSITION

dismissed
