FACTUAL BACKGROUND

S.L.W. and J.M.P. sought to terminate C.M.T.'s parental rights and have J.M.P. adopt M.L.T. They contended the statutory grounds for termination had been established. The district court found they had not proved the statutory grounds by clear and convincing evidence, and the Supreme Court held those findings were supported by the evidence and were not clearly erroneous.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The District Court of Stark County, Southwest Judicial District, denied the petition seeking termination of the birthfather's parental rights and adoption by J.M.P. The petitioners appealed, arguing the district court erred in finding they had failed to prove statutory grounds for termination. The Supreme Court summarily affirmed under N.D.R.App.P. 35.1(a)(2).

DISPOSITION

affirmed
