PRACTICE AREAS

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the district court should exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the Unruh Act claim and other state-law claims.
2. Whether Plaintiff must provide information concerning the amount of Unruh Act statutory damages sought and whether Plaintiff or Plaintiff's counsel qualifies as a high-frequency litigant under California Code of Civil Procedure section 425.55.
3. Whether the court may raise and examine subject-matter jurisdiction sua sponte.

HOLDINGS

1. The district court may raise the question of subject-matter jurisdiction sua sponte at any time during the pendency of the action and may require the parties to provide information relevant to that inquiry.
2. The court did not finally decide whether to exercise supplemental jurisdiction; instead, it ordered Plaintiff to show cause why jurisdiction should be exercised and warned that it may decline supplemental jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c).

KEY QUOTATIONS

“This Court has a sua sponte obligation to confirm that it has subject matter jurisdiction.” (at 1)

“Failure to timely or adequately respond to this Order to Show Cause may, without further warning, result in the dismissal of the entire action without prejudice or the Court’s declining to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the Unruh Act claim and the dismissal of that claim pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c).” (at 2)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The complaint alleged a violation of the Americans with Disabilities Act and sought injunctive relief. It also asserted a claim for damages under California's Unruh Civil Rights Act and other state-law claims. The order does not resolve the merits of those claims; it focuses on the asserted basis for supplemental jurisdiction and the potential effect of California's reforms concerning high-frequency litigants.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed a complaint asserting an ADA injunctive-relief claim, an Unruh Act damages claim, and other state-law claims. The court noted that supplemental jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a) was the sole stated basis for jurisdiction over the Unruh Act claim and sua sponte ordered Plaintiff to show cause why supplemental jurisdiction should be exercised. The court required a written response by May 9, 2025, and warned that failure to respond could result in dismissal without prejudice or declining supplemental jurisdiction and dismissing the Unruh Act claim.
