PRACTICE AREAS

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the magistrate judge's Report and Recommendation should be adopted after de novo review of Plaintiff's objections.
2. Whether Amber Petrig Simon's motions to dismiss should be granted.
3. Whether the remaining defendants' motion to compel arbitration should be granted and the case stayed as to those defendants pending arbitration.

HOLDINGS

1. The district court adopted the Report and Recommendation and overruled Plaintiff's objections after conducting de novo review.
2. The court granted Amber Petrig Simon's motions to dismiss and dismissed her from the lawsuit.
3. The court granted Thomas J. Henry, PLLC, Emilia Cummings, Elena Fabrin, Jack Genovese II, Laurie Dobson, and Tanya Bachand's motion to compel arbitration and stayed the case as to those defendants pending resolution of the arbitration proceedings.

KEY QUOTATIONS

"After that thorough review, the Court is persuaded that the Magistrate Judge's findings and recommendation should be adopted."

"The Clerk of Court is requested to STAY this case as to those Defendants pending the resolution of the arbitration proceedings."

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Ngozi Paula Ejim brought claims against Thomas J. Henry, PLLC, Emilia Cummings, Elena Fabrin, Jack Genovese II, Laurie Dobson, Tanya Bachand, and Amber Petrig Simon. The magistrate judge recommended dismissing the claims against Simon and compelling arbitration of the claims against the other identified defendants, with a stay pending arbitration.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Magistrate Judge Susan Hightower recommended granting Amber Petrig Simon's motions to dismiss and dismissing Plaintiff's claims against her, as well as granting the other defendants' motion to compel arbitration and staying the case pending arbitration. Plaintiff filed objections to the Report and Recommendation, but after conducting de novo review, the district court overruled the objections and adopted the recommendation.
