QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. What procedural requirements apply if appellant seeks to disqualify a justice of the court in connection with the constitutional recusal inquiry?

HOLDINGS

1. If appellant seeks to disqualify a justice of the court, appellant must file a motion complying with Texas Rule of Appellate Procedure 16.3.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“In the event appellant seeks to disqualify a justice of this court, he must file a motion in compliance with TEX. R. APP. P. 16.3.”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The opinion concerns appellant's inquiry regarding recusal of members of the Fourth Court of Appeals. The order also notes that Justice Patricia O. Alvarez was not related to the trial judge, Mary Lou Alvarez, and that Justice Luz Elena D. Chapa was not related to Judge Cynthia Marie Chapa.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The matters arose from two cases pending in the 150th Judicial District Court of Bexar County, Texas. While the appeals were pending, appellant raised a constitutional recusal inquiry. The court ordered that any motion seeking to disqualify a justice of the court must comply with Texas Rule of Appellate Procedure 16.3.
