QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the district court should exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the plaintiff's Unruh Civil Rights Act claim and any related state-law claims.
2. What information plaintiff and counsel must provide to permit the court to evaluate whether declining supplemental jurisdiction is appropriate under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c).

HOLDINGS

1. Supplemental jurisdiction is discretionary rather than a right of the plaintiff, and the district court may decline to exercise it under the circumstances enumerated in 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c), including when state-law issues are novel or complex, substantially predominate, all federal claims have been dismissed, or exceptional circumstances provide compelling reasons to decline jurisdiction.
2. In responding to the order to show cause, plaintiff and counsel must submit declarations under penalty of perjury providing facts necessary for the court to determine whether they satisfy California's definition of a high-frequency litigant and must identify the statutory damages sought.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“a federal court should consider and weigh in each case, and at every stage of the litigation, the values of judicial economy, convenience, fairness, and comity.” (at 2)

“Failure to timely or adequately respond to this Order to Show Cause may result in the court declining to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the Unruh Act claim and any related state law claims and dismissing such claim or claims without further notice, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c).” (at 4)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The complaint alleges a violation of the Americans with Disabilities Act involving access to a place of public accommodation and seeks injunctive relief. It also asserts a claim for damages under California's Unruh Civil Rights Act. The court noted California's statutory efforts to address allegedly baseless or vexatious disability-access litigation, including heightened pleading requirements and a high-frequency litigant fee.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed a complaint asserting an Americans with Disabilities Act claim for injunctive relief and a California Unruh Civil Rights Act claim for damages. Plaintiff requested supplemental jurisdiction over the Unruh Act claim under 28 U.S.C. § 1367. The court issued an order to show cause requiring plaintiff and counsel to provide information concerning the statutory damages sought and whether plaintiff qualifies as a high-frequency litigant; no final jurisdictional disposition was entered in the opinion.

OPINION

2 3 4 5 6 7 8 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT 9 CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
10 11 KENNETH DAVIDSON Case No. 2:25-cv-10226-WLH-E Plaintiff(s), 12 v. 13 ORDER
TO SHOW CAUSE INK N STITCH, et al. 14 WHY THE COURT Defendant(s). SHOULD 15
EXERCISE 16 SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION OVER THE 17 STATE LAW CLAIMS 18 19
The Complaint filed in this action asserts a claim for injunctive relief arising 20 out of an alleged violation of the Americans with Disabilities Act (the “ADA”) and 21 claim for damages pursuant to California’s Unruh Civil Rights Act (the “Unruh 22 Act”), Cal. Civ.

Code §§ 51-53. In the Complaint, Plaintiff requests the court 23 exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the Unruh Act claim pursuant to 24 28 U.S.C. § 1367. 25 The United States Supreme Court has recognized supplemental jurisdiction 26 “is a doctrine of discretion, not of plaintiff’s right, and that district courts can 27 2 The supplemental jurisdiction statute codifies these principles.

After 3 establishing that supplemental jurisdiction encompasses “other claims” in the same 4 case or controversy as a claim within the district courts’ original jurisdiction, 5 § 1367(a), the statute confirms the discretionary nature of supplemental 6 jurisdiction by enumerating the circumstances in which district courts can refuse 7 its exercise: 8 (c) The district courts may decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over a claim under subsection (a) if -- 9 (1) the claim raises a novel or complex issue of State law, 10 (2) the claim substantially predominates over the claim or claims 11 over which the district court has original jurisdiction, 12 (3) the district court has dismissed all claims over which it has 13 original jurisdiction, or 14 (4) in exceptional circumstances, there are other compelling reasons for declining jurisdiction.

15 16 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c). 17 Depending on a host of factors, then -- including the circumstances of the 18 particular case, the nature of the state law claims, the character of the governing 19 state law, and the relationship between the state and federal claims -- district 20 courts may decline to exercise jurisdiction over supplemental state law claims. 21 The statute thereby reflects the understanding that, when deciding whether to 22 exercise supplemental jurisdiction, “a federal court should consider and weigh 23 in each case, and at every stage of the litigation, the values of judicial economy, 24 convenience, fairness, and comity.” Id. at 173 (quoting Carnegie-Mellon

See id. § 425.50(a).

California also imposed a "high-frequency 9 litigant fee" in 2015 in response to the "special and unique circumstances" 10 presented by certain plaintiffs and law firms filing an outsized number of Unruh 11 Act lawsuits.
