

THIRD DISTRICT COURT OF APPEAL OF FLORIDA

Eric Dickstein and Owen Trepanier v. Richard C. Walker, et al.

No. 3D21-1893 · No. No. 3D21-1893; Lower Tribunal No. 19-120-K · Decided March 1, 2023

SUMMARY

The Florida Third District Court of Appeal affirmed the circuit court's judgment in an appeal involving Eric Dickstein and Owen Trepanier against Richard C. Walker and others. The court cited Florida's amended summary-judgment standard and principles governing interpretation of contractual covenants.

CASE DETAILS

COURT	Third District Court of Appeal of Florida
WRITING FOR THE COURT	Emas; Hendon; Miller
JURISDICTION	Florida
DECIDED	March 1, 2023
DOCKET	No. 3D21-1893; Lower Tribunal No. 19-120-K
DISPOSITION	affirmed
PROCEDURAL POSTURE	Appeal from a circuit-court judgment, apparently involving summary judgment and interpretation of a contractual covenant.
STANDARD OF REVIEW	The opinion applied the amended Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.510 summary-judgment standard: summary judgment is proper when there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.
PRECEDENTIAL VALUE	Published Florida District Court of Appeal opinion
PARTIES	Eric Dickstein, Owen Trepanier v. Richard C. Walker, et al.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether the circuit court properly entered or otherwise sustained summary judgment under Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.510.
2. How the contractual covenant should be interpreted, including whether its language must be read as part of the entire agreement.

HOLDINGS

1. The circuit court's disposition was affirmed under the amended Florida summary-judgment standard.
2. A contractual covenant must be interpreted from the expressed intent shown by the language of the entire instrument; an individual contractual term may not be read in isolation.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“Under the amended rule, summary judgment is appropriate where ‘there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.’” (at 1)

“the correct test for the existence of a genuine factual dispute is whether ‘the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party.’” (at 1)

“When interpreting a contract, the court must first examine the plain language of the contract for evidence of the parties' intent.” (at 2)

“Moreover, it is well settled that a single contractual term must not be read in isolation.” (at 2-3)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The opinion contains no substantive factual recitation. It indicates that the appeal involved interpretation of a contractual covenant and the application of the amended summary-judgment standard.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The appeal was taken from the Circuit Court for Monroe County, where Timothy J. Koenig presided. The Third District Court of Appeal affirmed the circuit court's disposition without a separate factual analysis.

DISPOSITION

affirmed
