PRACTICE AREAS

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether plaintiff's sparse motion for default judgment adequately established liability on the claims alleged in the complaint.
2. What supplemental factual and legal materials plaintiff must provide to support default judgment and its requested damages, costs, and other relief.

HOLDINGS

1. Upon default, well-pleaded allegations of the complaint relating to liability are taken as true.
2. Allegations concerning the amount of damages are ordinarily not taken as true upon default; the plaintiff must summarize its requested relief and provide supporting evidence.

KEY QUOTATIONS

“Upon default, the well-pled allegations of the complaint relating to liability are taken as true”

“[Allegations] relating to the amount of damages suffered ordinarily are not [taken as true].”

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Advanced Private Police LLC alleged that Blackout Private Police LLC violated the Lanham Act and committed unfair competition and tortious interference with a contract under state law. Defendant did not appear after service by publication and did not respond to the motion for default judgment. Plaintiff's one-page motion relied on the existing record and included declarations concerning damages and costs, but supplied sparse facts and legal analysis supporting liability and relief.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed a complaint alleging Lanham Act, unfair-competition, and state-law tortious-interference claims. After difficulties serving defendant, the court authorized service by publication; defendant did not appear. The Clerk entered default on November 9, 2025. Plaintiff moved for default judgment on January 21, 2026, and the court ordered supplemental briefing before a scheduled default-judgment hearing.
